whereby he sold out his entire interests in the Indianapolis Athletic Association, owners of the Indianapolis baseball club, to his partner, Charles Ruschaupt. Mr. Watkins also announced that he had purchased the Minneapolis club from Ed A. Johnson, and would next season cast his fortunes in the Minnesota city. Watkins and Ruschaupt owned all the stock in the Indianapolis club, with the exception of one or two shares, that were necessary to place in other hands to make it a corporation. Mr. Watkins will be sole owner of the Minneapolis club, with the exception of a few shares of stock that are held by Minneapolis men. The purchase price of the two deals was not disclosed.

With the official statement from Watkins and Ruschaupt concerning the double deal came the announcement from Mr. Ruschaupt that William C. Phillips, late pitcher of the Cincinnati club, had been signed to manage the Indianapolis club the coming season. The sale of the Indianapolis club stock by Mr. Watkins to Mr. Ruschaupt will in no way affect the team for next season, deciared both Watkins and Ruschaupt. The players that have been signed by Indianapolis and those on the reserve list for next sesson go with the franchise. They are protected by the national agreement and must play in Indianapolis, as their names are attached to the contracts of the Indianapolis club and not to the contract of an individual. Mr. Ruschaupt and Mr. Phillips, however, will do everything they can to strengthen the team for next season.
